

2026 SRS Conflict of Interest Committee Candidate

Member-at-Large

Alexandria M. Reynolds, PhD

Dear Colleagues,

I am honored to be considered for the Conflict of Interest Committee. I have been a member of the Sleep Research Society since 2011 and have served the Society in multiple capacities, beginning as a trainee representative on the TEAC Subcommittee and later as a full TEAC committee member, where I lead the reestablishment of Saturday Trainee Day.

Additionally, I previously served on the Pipeline Development Committee, supporting initiatives related to networking, career development, and funding opportunities. During my term, I spearheaded the development of a shared repository of syllabus templates for sleep-related courses, enhancing members' access to educational resources.

Beyond the SRS, I have served in several elected and appointed service roles requiring discretion, fairness, and careful evaluation, including Faculty Relations Committee member, Dean Search Committee member, Chair Search Committee member, and Undergraduate Student Grievance Committee member. Across these roles, I have consistently approached service with a commitment to neutrality, confidentiality, and thoughtful deliberation. I would bring these same principles to the Conflict of Interest Committee in service of the Society and its mission.

Sincerely,

Alexandria M. Reynolds, PhD
